SSAI 2022 in Oslo starts in two weeks! Register today!

The long-awaited SSAI 2022 congress is now right around the corner, and we are ready to welcome you! Despite several waves of pandemic, and uncertainties related to war, energy crisis, travel restriction etc, we have been fortunate to gather a program of high quality with excellent speakers at top international level from 13 different countries (the Nordic countries, UK, Canada, USA, Belgium, United Arab Emirates, Netherlands, Germany and Australia). You have many choices to pick sessions of your taste with one plenary session in the morning and 6 parallel sessions the rest of the day, in total 50 sessions. Study the enclosed program and the list of 126 invited speakers and make your choices! We have covered all fields in our specialty, both clinically and scientifically, and have also covered themes like pollution caused by anesthesia drugs and gases, DEI (diversity, equity, inclusion), artificial intelligence and climate crisis: implications for medical treatment, a session on the ongoing war in Ukraine from a medical and ethical perspective and much more.

We also offer 6 interesting and highly practical workshops (enclosed at the end of this PDF)

For more information and registration: www.SSAI2022.com

We expect the SSAI Congress in Oslo 2022 to be a long-awaited opportunity to physically meet, mingle and discuss our latest achievements within the international community of anesthesiologists and intensivists. There will be many opportunities for social gatherings: a welcome reception in the City Hall on Wednesday, and on Thursday a conference dinner with excellent food and entertainment. In addition, you have all what Oslo offers during light summer evenings and nights.

We look very much forward to meeting you in Oslo in June!

Kind regards,
Tor Inge Tønnessen
Congress President of the 36th biennial SSAI conference

WORKSHOPS

Participating in workshops will offer you a unique opportunity to engage with faculty, network with colleagues, and participate in interactive and hands-on sessions. We are planning a wide range of workshops, covering interests across various domains in anaesthesia and critical care.

How to ventilate the critically ill?

Simulation based ventilation training where you will be exposed to various scenarios with a spontaneously breathing patient with an advanced lung solution to simulate challenging clinical ventilator cases.

How to become more evidence based as practitioners?

Practical introduction to use of the MagicApp as a digital tool to support our clinical decision-making. MAGIC is a research and innovation program and non-profit initiative within the health care sector, working to improve the creation, dissemination and dynamic updating of clinical practice guidelines, evidence summaries and decision aids. Instructors include both software engineers, methodologists and clinicians with extensive experience in using this digital tool.

How to safely transport contagious critically ill patients?

Critical care transport masterclass: Primary transport and Inter-hospital transfers of critically ill and potentially contagious patients remain core skills for the pre-hospital anesthesiologist. This masterclass presents some key principles in transport of patients in multi-organ failure aiming to provide a seamless critical care environment. Principles of transport of highly infectious patients will also be covered with simulations. Instructors include personnel from rescEU NORwegian Jet Ambulance High Infectious Patients task force.

How to get started with bedside ultrasound for critically ill patients?

Practical introduction and training for those who want to get started with bedside ultrasound in the critical care setting. Main focus will be basic exams of heart and lungs.

How to improve your bedside ultrasound skills for the critically ill?

Practical education and training in bedside ultrasound in the critical care setting for those looking to improve their skills. Focused head to toe ultrasound for intensivists where the exact content will be tailored to participant needs.

How to improve your ultrasound skills for regional anesthesia?

Practical education and training in different ultrasound techniques used to guide regional anesthesia.
